PRESIDENT READS HIS MESSAGE ON MEXICAN SITUATION
TO JOIN SESSION THIS AFTERNOON ASKING AUTHOR-ITY TO COMPEL HUERTA TO APOLOGIZE.

PREPARES FOR EVENTUALITIES

President insists That War Is Not Contemplated and That His Idea is Merely to Uphold the Dignity and Honor of the United States in the Present Crisis—Address Follows Cabinet Meeting This Morning.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Washington, April 20.—At three o'clock sharp this afternoon President Wilson delivered his message to Congress asking for its approval in using the armed forces of the United States in such ways and to such extent as may be necessary to obtain from General Huerta and his adherents the fullest recognition of the rights and dignity of the United States.

The president finished reading his address at 3:12 p. m., and left the chamber and a roar of applause and cheers.

Reviewed Situation.—The president reviewed the Mexican situation, reviewing the Tampico incident and said that the United States is the only nation to receive such indignities.

He described the correspondence leading up to the present crisis and said: "The incident cannot be regarded as a trivial one, inasmuch as two of our men were taken from a launch bearing the American flag. He then said the refusal of Huerta to salute the flag."

"This government can, and I earnestly hope, in no circumstances be forced into war with the people of Mexico. Mexico is torn by civil strife. It were to accept the test of its own constitution it has no government. General Huerta has set his power in the city of Mexico such as it is, without right, and by methods for which there can be no justification. Only part of the country is under his control."

Only Huerta.—If armed conflict should unhappily come as the result of his attitude, it would be a personal resentment towards this government. We should be fighting only General Huerta and those adherents to him and give him their support, and our object would be only to restore to the people of the distracted republic the opportunity to set up again their own laws and their own government."

Against War.—"But I earnestly hope that war is not now in question. I believe that the people of Mexico are people to whom that we do not desire to control in any way the affairs of our sister republic. Our feeling for the people of Mexico is one of the deepest and most genuine feeling. Everything that has been done to help them—not to hinder or embarrass them. We would not wish even to extend the good offices of friendship without their welcome and consent."

Settle Themselves.—"The people of Mexico are entitled to settle their own domestic affairs in their own way and we sincerely desire to respect their rights. The present situation need have no grave effect upon the opportunity to set up their own government firmly and wisely. No doubt I could do what is necessary in the circumstances to enforce respect for our government without recourse to congress, and yet not rely upon military powers as president. But I do not wish to act in matters possibly of so grave consequence except in close conference and cooperation with both the senate and house."

Resolution Made.—Just as soon as the joint session had dissolved this resolution was taken in the house. A joint resolution justifying the employment of the armed forces of the United States against Huerta was considered. "Resolved by the senate and house of representatives in congress assembled that the president of the United States is justified in the employment of armed forces of the United States to enforce the demand upon Victoriano Huerta for an unequivocal recognition of the government of the United States for the undivided commitment of his government by General Huerta and his representatives."

Cheered President.—It was exactly three p. m. when the house and senate galleries broke into cheers as the president was announced by Speaker Clark. The outburst soon subsided into silent respect for the president, in low but penetrating voice, began his address and the galleries listened attentively.

The diplomatic gallery was crowded with members of the foreign corps, the president's special committee of France and Spain, Russia, Great Britain and representatives of America and the Netherlands occupied the front row. The galleries were filled and every seat in the executive gallery was taken.

Start Deliberations.—Immediately following the president's withdrawal from the capital the committee on foreign relations of the house and senate began the deliberations of the resolution granting the president's request for authority to use the armed forces of the United States. At four o'clock they had not returned back to the house, but it was expected that the document that was being action.

for a joint session of the House and Senate at 3 p. m. and ask for authority to use the army and navy to uphold the honor and dignity of this nation.

Arrived Early.—The president returned to Washington from White Sulphur Springs at 7:54 a. m. and went to the White House for a conference with Secretary Bryan. This was followed by a special cabinet meeting called for 10:30 o'clock.

President Wilson had outlined his message last night while traveling and after going over the first draft with Secretary Bryan submitted it to the cabinet, House and senate leaders were early at the White House to learn the details of the President's necessary resolutions for putting their support behind the President and giving him full authority to act. While the President's plans were not official circles the he could ask Congress to authorize what are known as international law as "Measures short of war," which while not being a declaration of war on the part of the United States might so be construed by Huerta.

He described the correspondence leading up to the present crisis and said: "The incident cannot be regarded as a trivial one, inasmuch as two of our men were taken from a launch bearing the American flag. He then said the refusal of Huerta to salute the flag."

The Plans.—1. Seizure of the port of Tampico and Vera Cruz.
2. Seizure of the Mexican gunboats in those waters.
3. Seizure of the railroad from Vera Cruz to the Mexican capital to the west of Vera Cruz, the route to the Mexican capital being blocked.

The probable report for an appropriation to carry out these measures.

This latter point however, was not definite early today. The attitude of General Carranza, and Villa, Secretary Bryan said, the considered very favorable towards the United States. He said he expected any adverse developments from that phase of the situation.

No orders were issued to General Wood. He had a four-year detail as chief of the staff of army and whose term of service will expire next Wednesday. He probably will be sent to Texas City immediately where he has been for the last fourteen months.

Hope to See War.—Washington, April 20.—Don't get the impression that we are going to have war with Mexico, President said today told Washington correspondents.

"Under no circumstances would we fight the Mexican people," he said to his friends. "I am going to Congress to tell of a special situation," said the president, "and to receive approval for this. This is only an issue between this government and the persons who call themselves president of Mexico."

"We never have conceded his right to call himself the president of Mexico," he said. "The president of Mexico under no circumstances would we fight the people of that country. We want to help them in every way we can. I got a feeling of uneasiness today when I read the paper and found them fired with an enthusiasm for war."

"I have no enthusiasm for war," said the president. "I want justice. This may not eventuate in a war if Huerta takes the wise course."

When the president was asked if he considered the case with General Huerta as a case of a man of honor, he replied: "Certainly not," and referred to the Greyhound precedent in which a Greyhound town was destroyed as an act of reprisal by a British warship.

Anxious for Justice.—"I have enthusiasm for justice and for the dignity of the United States, but not for war, and there is no need of war if we handle the matter with firmness and promptness," said the president.

Events of the day, the president indicated, should bring final word that Huerta might alter his plans, and he added that even the course of action of the army and navy was dependent upon circumstances from hour to hour.

When the president was asked the direct question if the purpose of his action was to secure the return of Huerta he replied that the Tampico incident did not involve that question, but that the United States receive full recognition of its dignity and that such incidents as the recent occurrence at Tampico would not occur again.

The president announced that his message, which was ready, was about ten minutes to read. He declined to give out copies.

The president stated that the foreign diplomats at Mexico City had been in an effort to induce him to accede, but that no representations had been made to this government in any way by other nations.

Shortly after nine o'clock Secretary Bryan arrived at the White House and went into a conference with President Wilson in the latter's study. There was no developments up to that time.

Wilson Arrives Early.—President Wilson returned to the capital at 7:54 and was driven at once to the White House for a conference with officials on the Mexican situation and a cabinet meeting at 10:30.

As the president and Mrs. Wilson passed through their way station to the White House in their automobile, early travelers gave Mr. Wilson an enthusiastic demonstration of cheers and applause which the president acknowledged with a smile.

No officials were at the station to meet the president. A heavy rain was falling as he hurried to the White House.

ENTIRE ARMED FORCE
OF NATION IS READY
FOR MEXICAN CRISIS

WAR AND NAVY DEPARTMENTS ARE FULLY PREPARED FOR DECISIVE ACTION.

WILL MOBILIZE TROOPS

State Militia Will Be Called Out
First, After Which Volunteers
Will Be Recruited and Trained for Service.

The United States war department is fully prepared for the forthcoming crisis. The six brigades of the Mexican ports by the fleet.

The landing of marines in Tampico and possibly in Vera Cruz. The dispatching of the regular troops to support the marines.

The calling for an army of from 300,000 to 500,000 volunteers, the volunteers to include the national militia.

Washington, April 20.—The vast military power of the United States may be hurled against Mexico on a moment's notice. Within a day or two the navy will be in position to completely seal off every Mexican port. This blockade will go into effect as soon as the ships are in position.

With intervention made necessary, the first step after the blockade, will be the landing of marines at Tampico and possibly Vera Cruz. With the landing of marines the regular army will be ordered into Mexico to support the marines and the president will call on congress to authorize the call for a volunteer army.

In calling for volunteers provision will be made for transforming the regular army into a federal troops of volunteers. A preference will be given the state militia in organizing the volunteer army.

Texas City Forces.—The army stationed at Texas City in command of Brig. Gen. Frederick Funston, formerly known as the captor of Aguinaldo, is approximately 10,000 strong.

This is within two days' sail of Tampico and three days from Vera Cruz. There are four army transports, the Kilpatrick, the Meade, the Sumner and the McClelland, waiting at Texas City to take the first brigade of the second division to Tampico.

The moment it is found necessary to land marines at any of the Mexican ports and send the troops in Texas to support them, the president will be issued concentrating all the troops in the United States on the Mexican border. This will include the coast artillery troops as well as the cavalry, field artillery and infantry. At the same time orders will be issued to recruit the regular army up to its war strength.

To Organize Volunteers.—While the regular army is being hurried into Mexico in the event of intervention, the work of enlisting and organizing the volunteer troops will be in progress. If the volunteer army is organized and trained for service, it will be made to send green troops into Mexico. The national guard will be recruited up to war strength and after it is trained, it will be sent to the front.

This will require at least three months and in the meantime the regular army and navy will be pushing its way rapidly toward the City of Mexico. With the marines and coast artillery as an auxiliary force to the army, it is the plan if necessary to send the army from two or three different directions. It is understood the war plans provided for an invasion of Mexico from the north as well as from the south.

Whether the army will be sent into Mexico from the north will of course depend upon the conduct of the constitutionalists. If the constitutionalists do not join with Huerta, the northern section of the country will be left undisturbed and the American army will be concentrated in the territory now under the domination of Huerta.

Battleships Ready.—The following United States warships are in Mexican waters or will be here by Tuesday, when Admiral Dugan's squadron will be ready to take command of the fleet. Arkansas, flagship of Rear Admiral Haddock; Florida, flagship of Rear Admiral Fletcher; Utah, Connecticut, flagship of Rear Admiral Mayo; Colorado, flagship of Rear Admiral Dugan; New Hampshire, Michigan, Vermont, Minnesota, New Jersey, South Carolina, Also Chester, Dolphin, San Francisco, Des Moines, Prairie and Hendon with a total fighting force of 2,500 marines; the Tacoma and the gunboat Nashville.

In addition the battleships Rhode Island, Nebraska, Virginia, Georgia, Wyoming, Iowa, New York, North Dakota, Delaware and Kansas are available, if needed.

Ordered to Coast.—Houston, Texas, April 20.—The second division of the United States army here on a practice march, began a hurried move back to Texas City and Galveston today on orders received from Washington at three o'clock this morning. The first brigade of the division was packed on board a troop train but the remainder of the big army unit which brought 10,000 regulars here was ordered to make the 60 mile "hike" back to the coast on foot. Plans for the first brigade to go abroad transport were made although it was said no sailing orders have been received.

Houston Troops Ordered.—Houston, Texas, April 20.—The second division of the army which has been practicing in Texas City and Galveston for a year, has been ordered to remain until the middle of the week. The soldiers were to have paraded in a local celebration April 21st, of the battle of San Jacinto, when Texas won independence from Mexico.

The six brigades which were ordered to Galveston by transport, would be the first to go aboard the transport unless, order for embarkation should require some after the order was issued. Three hours after the order was issued, the men were on board the transport. The movement developed the fact that the trains were made up with the exception of hooking the engine and had been left in readiness for just such orders.

Expressed in court circles that unless the catarrh from which his majesty suffers diminishes within a short time, severe complications may develop.

There will be no split between the President and Congress on that question.

British Statesmen Believe Time Has Come for American Intervention.
—Bryan Gets Huerta's Official Reply.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Washington, April 20.—The house upon assembling immediately and unanimously adjourned for a joint session with the senate at three p. m. The senate without debate adopted the house resolution for a three o'clock joint session.

The general comment among congressmen was in hearty accord with the president and the possibility of action. Some, however, were adverse to the present plan. Representative Leader Mann of the house has issued a statement saying he was not in sympathy with the movement, and today Senator Charles Bristow commented adversely upon the administration's attitude.

Bristow On Ox Side.—"When President Wilson comes today asking for the use of armed forces of the United States to compel Huerta to apologize, he will not get my vote," announced Senator Bristow. He asks for authority to put down insurrection or establish a stable government in Mexico, a more serious question for consideration will arise, but this thing of making war on the Mexican people merely because a man, the provisional president and a former bandit, refuses to apologize, is idiotic."

Secretary Bryan announced that he had read the full text of Mr. O'Shaughnessy's message from Mexico City containing Huerta's reply. He said it was not a long message, but declined to make the text public until after the division meeting.

Mr. Bryan said that so far as he knew, the Mexican government had not given Mr. O'Shaughnessy his passport nor had the state department instructed the charge to leave Mexico.

According to official advices, Americans in Mexico are beginning to leave. It is understood that hundreds of Americans left Mexico City yesterday for Vera Cruz.

The state department through Mr. O'Shaughnessy and by direct information from Mr. Bryan and American counsel throughout advised all Americans to leave. Such protection as the United States has extended to foreigners will not be afforded, according to the present purpose.

Huerta's Last Note.—Charge El Gara of the Mexican embassy took a new proposal from Huerta to Secretary Bryan at 10:50 a. m. The charge described it as hopeful. Secretary Bryan left the cabinet meeting to go to the state department to meet Mr. El Gara and read Huerta's last proposition.

Secretary Bryan, however, reported that it did not contain any new proposals, but was merely a full text of the communication to Charles O'Shaughnessy which had been delivered here last night and the situation remained unchanged.

At the White House today officials declared the words had significant bearing on the present situation. "I have the honor to inform you that I have overthrown this government. The forces are with me and from now on peace and prosperity will reign. Signed, your obedient servant, Victoriano Huerta, Commander in Chief."

Charge El Gara contended that this communication to Mr. Bryan contained new proposals, but the secretary said:

MEXICAN CAPITAL AROUSED

American Residents Are Preparing to Leave City Although Charge

O'Shaughnessy Has Not Been Given His Passport—Huerta

Assumes Attitude of Indifference to Entire Affair.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Mexico City, April 20.—Sr. Rortilly Y Raos, foreign minister in announcing Huerta's refusal to agree to the demands of the United States that the American flag be unconditional saluted, gave out the following statement.

Recites Incident.—"On the 9th of the present month between eleven and noon, a boat without an American flag and with nine marines and one officer landed at a point called 'The Beach of Turbide,' in Tampico. Colonel Raymond Hino Josa who had charge of the defense of that point, detained the marines and officer and considered them to the presence of the general who had command of the fort, Ignacio Morelos Zarogosa. It should be understood that at that time the port was not only under military control but was withstanding an attack by rebels."

Zarogosa immediately and without investigating the case put the marines and officer at liberty, placed Hino Josa in prison and sent an apology to Rear Admiral Mayo in command of the American fleet.

Thought Closed.—"We thought this incident closed but unfortunately this was not the case. Rear Admiral Mayo sent to him some time afterward an ultimatum to be presented to him. He requested that the American flag be hoisted at a point in a public place in Tampico and saluted by 21 guns and besides the severe punishment of Hino Josa, stipulating that all this be done within twenty-four hours. The time was later extended when the diplomatic parleys were begun and have continued until now."

The provisional president of Mexico when informed of the case ordered another investigation of the facts and the punishment of the guilty officer if it were proven he was blameworthy."

The Mexicans in suspense. Intense interest today the next day from America in reply to the refusal of Provisional President Huerta to comply with the demands of the United States.

All the morning papers published lengthy statements by the Mexican foreign minister, Sr. Portillo y Rojas, outlining reasons for the position General Huerta had taken, namely: that Huerta's flag was not flying on the boat when the bluejackets were arrested on the shore at Tampico; that therefore the flag had not been insulted and that compliance with the demand for an unconditional salute would be humiliating to Mexico."

This statement was followed by a statement from President Huerta advising Mexicans to refrain from demonstrations which might embarrass future negotiations.

Today many American residents have made preparations to stay in the Mexican capital awaiting the outcome of the present crisis unless they are ordered to leave by the Mexican authorities.

They expressed the belief that there will be danger in the eventuality of war. Others are going to Vera Cruz or are in readiness to leave if necessary.

Huerta Indifferent.—The formal reply by the Mexican government to the president of the United States was handed to Charles O'Shaughnessy, the American charge de affaires, at exactly six o'clock last evening at the foreign office.

Charge O'Shaughnessy had been informed previously of the nature of the document. Sr. Portillo y Rojas late in the afternoon in the suburbs of Coyocaco where he had gone to dine with some friends. Provisional President Huerta displayed comparative indifference to the crisis and passed several hours last evening listening to the military band playing in Chautlepe park.

Several hundred of the American residents spent the evening at the American club where a dinner and entertainment were given.

Order Vessels Away.—Vera Cruz, April 20.—Commander Charles F. Hughes of the United States fleet today called on General Gustavo Flores, commander of the federal troops at Vera Cruz in command of the port and instructed him to order all merchant vessels out of the harbor.

All Americans and other women have been asked by Consul Canada to take refuge on vessels now in the harbor, preferably on board the Mexican and the Ward Line and the Ex-munanza which have been chartered by the United States navy.

Relief From Constipation

It's Me For Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets.

That is the joyful cry of thousands since Dr. Edwards produced Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.
Dr. Edwards, a practicing physician
for 17 years and calomel's old-time
enemy, discovered the formula for Olive Tablets while treating patients
for chronic constipation and torpid livers.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do not contain calomel, but a healing, sootheing vegetable laxative. No gripping, is the "keynote" of these little sugar-coated, olive-colored tablets. They cause the bowels and liver to act normally. They never force them to unnatural action.

If you have a "dark brown mouth"
now and then—a bad breath—a dull,
tired feeling—sick headache—torpid liver and are constipated, you'll find
quick, sure and only pleasant results
from one or two little Dr. Edwards'
Olive Tablets at bedtime.

Thousands take one or two every night just to keep right. Try them.

YOUNG LADIES HELD A SECOND SUFFRAGE PARTY ON SATURDAY

Over Sixty Attended and Boasted of Having a Good Time Despite Absence of Gentlemen Friends.

After realizing such a good time at the first "Adams" dance held a few weeks ago, practically the same group
of young ladies, numbering about sixty, went against the will of their gentlemen friends on last Saturday evening, by holding the second suffrage
dancing party of the year in the Terpischorean hall. When the first dance was given, some weeks ago, the boys
became rather peeved over such an attempt to organize a dancing club,
that they readily formed a boycott
threatening to sever all further social relationships with the girls. The girls failed to stick together and it was not long until the subject was without discussion. The girls then called the gentlemen easy marks, and after having given up the idea of holding any more parties, for fear of the boycott, they later made up their minds, that they would give not only
one, but many more of these suffrage
parties.

The affair last Saturday evening
was one of the prettiest parties ever held in the city. The girls all wore costumes, and represented practically every country on the globe. Prizes were introduced, helped to form the entertainment of the evening. Prizes
were given for the best costumes, Ruth Soulmán as cupid, capturing first place; Gladys Andrews, second; and Miriam Allen, third.

The proceeds realized from the party
were given over to the Junior Girls Auxiliary of Christ church, under whose supervision the dance was given.

The party began at eight o'clock and closed at midnight. Many of the methods acted as the chaperones, there being no specific charge placed on preceding the dance. The girls and boys of having a wonderful time, and if they still stick to their word, the boys may yet form a boycott which will be lived up to. It is a question in the boys' minds, as to whether or not they are being treated fairly, and unless the dances are stopped they declare they will do something rash,
probably prohibiting any further parties being given. This they can do because they say they are the financiers and speculators.

and humorous selections. All members of the Moose lodge and their good time is promised to all.

GRIPPE PREVALENT

He—What sort of a ring would you like, Louise? Why don't you answer?
She—You must know, George, that silence is golden.

How to Regain Strength After a Severe Attack.

With so much gripe prevalent this winter a few words of advice regarding its cause and treatment will not be out of place.

Gripe is an infectious disease easily taken when the system is in a tired or run-down condition.

The best means of prevention are
to keep the blood in good healthy condition, and if the system gets into a weak, run-down condition, take Vi-
nol, our delicious cod liver and iron tonic.

A lady from Long Branch, N. J., says: "Gripe left me in a nervous weakness, run-down condition. After taking three bottles of Vinol I am better and stronger than I have been for years, and I cheerfully recommend Vinol to all who have suffered from the gripe and need strength." (Name
furnished on request.)

We have never sold in our store
such a valuable strength creator and
health restorer for the convalescent,
the weak and run-down as Vinol, and your money will be returned if it does not do all we claim for it. Smith

WILL RENEW FIGHT ON CANTEN ISSUE

Concerted Effort Will Be Made to Rescind Former Resolution Favoring Restoration of Canteen.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Washington, April 20.—A big controversy is expected to develop during the annual meeting here of the National Society of the D. A. R. which began its session today, over the society's action last year in adopting a resolution proposing the restoration of the army canteen.

Temperance organizations led by the National Anti-Saloon League began their session today, and have the resolution rescinded. William E.
Anderson, state superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League of New York, announced today that he had written letters to army captains and state organizations of the society urging their support on the movement. Mr. Anderson asserted that when the resolution was adopted last year many of the delegates did not realize just what
its effect would be and that its passage did not represent the real sentiment of the organization.

Mr. Anderson announced that the temperance forces would not attempt to have the resolution rescinded until
the congress had been given ample time to act itself. He added, however,
that unless assured that action would be taken, temperance advocates would make an effort to be heard on the question.

This was the first Congress
at which the so-called "insurgent"
wing, headed by the new President General Mrs. William Cumming Story, has been in control, and the thousands of delegates and visitors expected that the sessions would be just as heated as during election time. Revision of the D. A. R. constitution, in the interest of simplicity of procedure, is one of the main subjects up for consideration by the Congress. Mrs. Story Randell, chairman of the credentials committee, estimated today that the present Congress will be the largest ever held in Washington.

CLAIMS COMMISSION COSTS STATE LESS

Chairman Indignant When Confronted
With the Expense Account for Iowa Rate Commission.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Madison, Wis., April 20.—"It is known throughout the country, among the informed, that the railroad commission of Wisconsin operates cheaper or proportionately than any other public service commission."

This was the unqualified statement of Chairman John H. Roemer of the railroad commission when shown the statement that the expenditures of the Wisconsin commission were greater than that of Iowa. Some time ago Commissioner Roemer was tendered a position of legal advisor to the interstate commerce commission at Washington at a substantial increase over his present salary. He made it plain in his statement today that the reason he did not accept the position
was that he anticipated an attack by the state bar, "it is his intention to assist in bringing the railroad before the people regarding the work
and cost of this commission."

"The railroad commission of Iowa
is not a general public service commission," continued Mr. Roemer. "Its functions are very limited and compare with the functions of this commission when it was created in 1905.
The only duties imposed upon the commission of Iowa are the main regulation of rates and service of all railroads."

Simultaneously Mr. Roemer made public a memorandum that had just been sent to the public affairs board
in which the duties of the Wisconsin commission are itemized. No less than fifty specific duties have been imposed upon the commission. Besides regulating railroads, its duties have been extended to all public utilities, water power companies, stocks and
bonds, and the administration of the
"Blue Sky Law."

As compared to 67 formal cases
handled in Iowa, according to the report of the commission in 1912, the
port of the commission in 1913, the Wisconsin commission handled 232 formal railroad cases and 109 formal utility cases. Since the commission was created in 1905 it has handled 7,774 complaints.

"These cases, it is estimated, have resulted in a net reduction in railroad
charges of $2,178,000 annually," says
the report of the commission to the board of public affairs, "and in utility charges of $899,164 annually, a total of $3,077,164 saved to the public annually, while the level of service
meanwhile has been much improved."

BRISTOW AND MANN OPPOSE PRESIDENT IN MEXICAN CRISIS

Secretary of State said it was only a matter of construction. Officials who were familiar with the message said it might be construed as a proposal to eliminate the written guarantee for a return salute by the United States which Llerena demanded early yesterday, but state department officials
evidently did not deem it as of such importance.

Interest in London.
London, April 20.—Mexico overshadowed all other matters in public interest here today. Throughout the British Isles local and imperial politics are of grave import, but have given way to a long time has considered here for a while the inevitable intervention by the United States
to restore order in Mexico.

The Westminster Gazette, leading government organ, in expressing its views says: "There is nothing now to survive here for a while the inevitable intervention by the United States
to restore order in Mexico."

"One cannot pretend to be surprised
that this should be the end of the reign of the United States to recognize General Huerta. There are a good many other nations which under other circumstances might have attacked the hornet's nest, but this case
is one in which the Monroe doctrine
shadows the situation with heavy obligations from which there is no escape."

WOODS TACKLES JOB AS HEAD OF POLICE

Former Secretary of Mayor Mitchell
Accepts Hard Position as Police Commissioner of New York.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
New York, April 20.—An ex-school teacher, a specialist in chemistry, a student of civil government; formerly fourth deputy in charge of New York's detective bureau, manager of vast Mexican timber lands; newspaper reporter—these are a few of the jobs that have been held by Arthur Woods, who has been chosen by Mayor Mitchell for the "hardest job in the world." That "hardest job" is Police Commissioner of the City of New York, sometimes called, and rightly so, the world's greatest political grayhound, not even excepting the Mayor of Greater New York.

Police Commissioner Woods is 31
years old. He may not be a Col.
Goethals, but after close association
with him for three months—that was the length of time Woods was secretary to the mayor—Mitchell declares
he is the one man for the job, outside of Col. Goethals. Woods goes into his new post with a full realization of its responsibilities, and the obstacles which will beset him. Woods
knows how such men as Greene, McAdoo, Bingham, Crosey, and Waldo, all passed before him in the same job in a short space of time. It would be hardly fair to call Woods' immediate predecessor, Douglas F. Bin-gum, one of those who "passed" for McKay
heroically agreed to take the job after Waldo's sudden and demoralizing
exit, only until Mayor Mitchell could find a permanent occupant of this unenviable task. Green, Bingham, Bin-gum, Crosey and Waldo, whatever their other failings, were at least conscientious and diligent. But they left the police commissionership disappointed, some embittered. The job all but wrecked Roosevelt's chances for governor of New York, so it is no surprise that Arthur Woods has accepted.

It will take several months at least before Woods makes good. Although Woods goes into the job with definite ideas, Woods will have his troubles
with that unseen, insidious and powerful thing, the system, to combat and fight from the start. Woods brings to his new post the knowledge and experience he gained while fourth deputy under General Bingham. During a visit to Europe some years ago
he spent several weeks studying foreign police methods. He paid particular attention to the won-derful
Scotland Yard system of administration.

Woods' first task will be to reorganize the police force. The present force of 10,000 men is divided into fourteen districts, each with a commissioner. Woods will have to reorganize the districts and the commissioners.

FAMOUS RUNNERS IN PENNSYLVANIA MEET

Boston Annual A. A. Marathon Race Scheduled and Relay Carnival at Philadelphia.

New York, April 20.—The present week will witness in the 1914 season of amateur athletics with events of unusual importance. Today will witness the running of the famous annual Boston A. A. marathon race and on Saturday the week will close with the yearly relay carnival of the University of Pennsylvania at Philadelphia, which assumes an international aspect due to the presence of the Oxford University four-mile relay team representing England in the premier event of the day's program. These games always attract a large gathering of athletic enthusiasts to the field, but the presence and personnel of the Oxford team is such that the meet is of extraordinary interest this season.

In this race, which is for the four-mile college relay, championship of America, ten colleges and universities have entered teams to run against Oxford, making a field of eleven teams or forty-four members, each of whom will run one mile. Both east and west is represented since the list includes Harvard, Cornell, Pennsylvania, Princeton, Colgate, Dartmouth, Pennsylvania State, Ohio State, and Stanford. Large as this field is, however, Oxford is the logical favorite, since by means of the Rhodes scholarship system and unusual circumstances the English university has a team of remarkable mile runners from several parts of the world.

BILLIARD EXPERTS IN TITLE TOURNEY

Opening Matches for 14-Inch Balk Line Championship Tournament Starts in New York.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.) New York, April 20.—The opening matches in the 14-inch balk line, one shot in world's championship billiard tournament will be played in New York City today. Although this is the initial tourney, it is a most representative one, including William Hoppe, George Sutton, George Sloan, Orin Morningstar, Calvin Demarest, Koki Yamada, Harry Cline and young Jacob Schaefer. Play will continue until April 28, each game to consist of 400 points under the rules now governing the 18.1 game except that the anchor spaces will be seven inches square.

The eight entrants each paid an entry fee of $250, to which is added a purse of $3,000, together with the net gate receipts. It is estimated that between six and eight thousand dollars will be divided among the players on the basis of forty per cent. to the winner, thirty to second, twenty to third and ten to fourth. The winner of the tournament will be required to defend the championship emblem under the same regulations that govern the 18.1 trophy and championship.

Sport Snap Shots

October 8, 1888, is an unlucky date to be born on if you hope to land a big game. Thus far three men born on that same day have tried out with the Naps and none of them managed to make a go of it. In the season of 1912 Hyder Barr was given a try-out and not very long after was disposed of. Hyder played with the Naps long enough to let them know the date of his birth. Buddy Ryan, the next one whose birth occurred on the same day, did a little better, as he managed to stick the best part of two seasons, 1912 and 1913. However, the Naps are getting along without him this year. Jack Knight was the latest recruit to claim October 8, 1888, as the day of his birth, and as it happened Ryan passed Knight up several weeks ago. From this point on any recruit trying out at Cleveland will keep his birthday a secret if it should by any chance be that unlucky one.

Jack Britton, Chicago lightweight, recently reviewed the light weight situation. Britton discussed the many lighters who are on the heels of Champ Ritchie and with a word or two disposed of all of them but three. Charlie White is only a mediocre fighter, a shovely man for his work, but far from championship class, says Jack. The only men in the lightweight division who amount to anything, says Jack Britton, is Ad Wolgast, Tommy Murphy and Jack Britton. Britton, with most engaging modesty, puts his own name last. It's up to Ad and Tommy and Jack himself to take the title from Ritchie. And while Jack didn't come right out and say it, his suggestion that he didn't expect any too much from Ad and Tommy.

Lefty George, after losing a hard game to Indianapolis, was asked what he thought of the Cleveland A. team. Lefty, it seems, had rather poor support in the game. "Well, we've got some lovely new uniforms," said Lefty.

Kid Williams, the fast and popular little Baltimore bantam, is training hard for his bout with Dutch Brandt April 14. He will fight Johnny Conlon sometime in May.

Art Shafer has recently said that he planned to quit the game. If Art does same it will be one of the first times on record that a man in active service and good health ever quit. As a rule they prefer to wait till one or two of their feet have dropped into the grave.

The Hague in History.
The Hague was originally a mere hunting station of the counts of Holland. Its name freely translated means "the count's hedge." The little town first rose to importance in 1577, when it was made the seat of the supreme court of Holland. In 1684 it became the place of assembly of the states general and the residence of the stadholders, since when it has been the diplomatic conference place of Europe.

HEAVY WIND STORM DOES SOME DAMAGE THROUGHOUT COUNTY

Wind-mills and silos. Wrecked and Farm Out-Buildings. Damaged in Stiff Gale of Saturday.

Considerable damage to out-buildings, sheds, wind-mills and silos on the left wind storm of Saturday afternoon, according to reports received in this city, yesterday, and today.

While the gale in the locality reached sufficient violence to cause considerable damage, especially in the country.

In the vicinity of Afton considerable havoc was experienced on ten or twelve farms, which suffered severely in the cyclone last fall, a tobacco shed being blown down on a George Long place, and a newly built hog house being partially destroyed at Leonard McCrea's.

The damage of this city is summarized as follows:

Wind-mills blown down at the Charles Butler and T. M. B. Gunn farms, also wrecked at the Peter Draht farm, sheds and outbuildings damaged at the farms of Harry Eddy, L. C. Walters, Frank Jones, H. H. Harstead, and Peter Fairbairn.

A wind-mill was blown over at the V. Simpson place.

In the western half of the county minor damages were done on a number of farms. Barn doors were blown down, roofs were loosened and carried away and shade and fruit trees were badly whipped and broken.

In this city, wind-mills were torn down, signs smashed and windows broken. At the Roberty residence on Chestnut street the barn was moved from its foundation, Melvin Brelby was riding his bicycle on South Jackson street when the storm struck, a flying branch from a tree struck him, throwing him from his head, and narrowly escaping his head.

Damage was done to the sheds at the brick yards on Pleasant street, several buildings being unroofed.

The porch at the country club was torn loose, lifted above the club house and carried for a distance of one or two hundred rods before it crashed into the doorway of the W. B. Davis home, just outside the city limits.

One of the small, six-story hotels was also wrecked. The porch and new building built two years ago as similar destruction was wrought by the cyclone.

Considerable damage is reported at South Janesville, where a portion of the roof was blown from the New Drop Inn. At the Walter Little farm and other places on the Magnolia road buildings were partially wrecked and minor damage done.

The storm struck Janesville about five o'clock and the gale blew its hardest for ten or fifteen minutes.

A sudden change of temperature late in the day by chilly northwest breezes, made necessary the building of furnace fires in Janesville homes. Low temperatures prevailed throughout the middle west, the drop in temperature ranging from 35 to 40 degrees in less than twenty-four hours. It was somewhat warmer today and the prediction of the Washington weather bureau for Tuesday, "a warmer day with continued cloudiness."

ANNOUNCEMENT MADE OF COMING WEDDINGS

Miss Margaret MacGregor to Wed Lewis G. Ehrlinger—Miss Mabel Lee to Wed H. B. Moseley.

Mrs. Hugh M. Craig entertained at an elaborate dinner on Saturday evening at her home, 913 Milwaukee avenue, at which was announced the engagement of Miss Margaret MacGregor, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander MacGregor, to Lewis G. Ehrlinger, and also the engagement of Miss Mabel Carolyn Lee, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard W. Lee, to Herbert B. Moseley, of the town of Beloit.

Covers were laid for twelve. Table decorations were in yellow, the center being a large basket of yellow daffodils and jonquils.

The secret was told by "little birds," small yellow canaries, each carrying in its beak a tiny card bearing the announcement in an original verse written by the bride.

All the young people are well known in this city. Their marriage will take place in June.

After dinner the evening was pleasantly spent in sewing for the prospective brides, and the occasion was one long to be remembered by those who were fortunate to be present.

STATE STARTS CASE AGAINST M. GRIFFEN

John Dorsey Given Nine Months' Term—Fred Triplet Charged With Using Abusive Language.

Testimony was offered in the municipal court this morning in the case against Mabel Griffin, charged with being an inmate of a disorderly house. The proceedings today were in the nature of an examination to ascertain if there were sufficient grounds to hold her for jury trial.

This morning residents near the house occupied by Lulu James, who is alleged to have conducted the testified that Mabel Griffin, Attorney E. H. Ryan, who is defending the Griffin girl, District Attorney Dunwiddie, assisted by City Attorney Dougherty, is prosecuting the case. It is reported that Lulu James, who was arrested for violating city ordinance and who was subsequently released, is a witness in the Griffin case, has left the city, having "jumped" her bail bond, which was signed by herself.

Case Adjourned.

After the attorneys had closed their arguments the case was adjourned by Judge Maxwell until ten o'clock tomorrow morning. E. H. Ryan protested the introduction of court records as evidence on the second count of the warrant charges that Mabel Griffin has heretofore been sentenced through a clerical error because he will join the regular ranks. At first the jury was given a small fine. Decided to be given on the legal points by Judge Maxwell tomorrow morning. Those who testified at the trial were Thomas Edden, Mary Palmer, Margaret Dolan, Abby Hasdins, E. H. Ryan, Robert Mennick, P. D. Chalmers, Harry Griffin and Miss L. M. Stoddard.

WISCONSIN'S TOLL OF VOLUNTEER SOLDIERS

This State Will Be Expected to Furnish Over Six Thousand Men for War With Mexico.

When the call for troops to fill the volunteer army of the United States to the quota required by the president in his call for soldiers to fight against Mexico, Wisconsin will have to furnish approximately 6,543 men out of the total of 200,000 that will be required in addition to the regular army already under arms.

At the national guard armories preparations have been made for the call that is expected to come. Janesville has no company or member of the national guard. The days of the old Light Infantry are but memories. The last official military organization that Janesville had was Company A of the First Regiment of the Wisconsin Volunteers that went out in 1898 to the Spanish American war. The Harry L. Gifford Company No. 23, of the United States War Veterans, is largely composed of the members of this company, but the majority are scattered far and wide.

It is sixteen years ago that the call came for volunteers for the Spanish American war and at that time Wisconsin troops were mobilized at the state fair grounds at Milwaukee. It was in April the troops were called out just as they were this year.

The troops would be apportioned so far as practical among the several states and territories and the District of Columbia, according to population, and would enlist to serve for a period of two years unless sooner discharged.

The war department at Washington is prepared for war. They have the states must have under arms volunteers are called for and the following is the list:

Alabama, 6,474; Arkansas, 1,450; California, 6,474; Colorado, 2,167; Connecticut, 3,214; Delaware, 700; Florida, 1,500; Georgia, 7,428; Idaho, 1,641; Illinois, 16,096; Indiana, 8,640; Iowa, 3,544; Kansas, 5,564; Kentucky, 3,726; Louisiana, 3,880; Maine, 2,513; Maryland, 3,584; Massachusetts, 3,442; Michigan, 8,738; Minnesota, 5,766; Mississippi, 4,314; Missouri, 10,822; Montana, 1,046; Nebraska, 4,822; Nevada, 474; New Hampshire, 1,054; New Jersey, 549; New York, 25,449; North Carolina, 168; North Dakota, 222; Ohio, 14,496; Oregon, 1,768; Pennsylvania, 12,538; Rhode Island, 1,420; South Dakota, 2,700; South Carolina, 1,494; Tennessee, 6,120; Texas, 8,458; Utah, 950; Vermont, 1,265; Virginia, 5,574; Washington, 2,566; West Virginia, 2,778; Wisconsin, 6,543; Wyoming, 1,462; Arizona, 362; New Mexico, 680; District of Columbia, 888; Oklahoma, 500.

"We find a lot of fault with streetcar conductors not being polite, but there is mighty few folks that are polite to the poor conductors."

Differed as to Needed Sleep.
Sir Philip Sydney calls sleep "the poor man's wealth," and he might have added, "it is every man's health." The "Immortal Alfred" of England divided
the day into three portions of eight hours each, assigning one for refreshment and health of the body by sleep
and exercise, another for business and the third for study and devotion.
Bishop Taylor considered three hours
and Richard Baxter four hours' sleep
sufficient for any man.

FUNERAL FOR CHARLES MABBETT HELD SATURDAY

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Edgerton, April 20.—The funeral of Charles Franklin Mabbett, who passed away in Rochester, Minn., April 16th,
after a brief illness, was held from the Congregational church Saturday afternoon, Rev. Gregory officiating.
Mr. Mabbett was born in Bridgewater, N. Y., May 20, 1848. When a boy of nine years he came with his parents to Edgerton, Wis., where he has resided ever since. He was married to Fanny A. Kellogg, June 26, 1872. Four children—Leora, Walter, Jessie and Alice—came to bless their
union, all of whom are living.
When Mr. Mabbett was nineteen years old his father died, leaving him
the main helper and comfort of his mother and sister. With his mother
he took a deep interest in the work of the Baptist church and later of other churches of this city.
During all the year of his life in Edgerton he has taken an unflinching
interest in all the activities of the city,
and was especially interested in the work of the public schools and of the library.
Soon after his marriage he engaged in the general store business and later
for a few years, conducted an agriculture implement store. In 1884 he entered the leaf tobacco business in which he continued until his death.

Normality the Essential.
The normal man is the one who succeeds in life. He must have imagination and courage, endurance
and industry, the power to concentrate as well as intelligence. But first of all he must be normal, moderate in his habits, careful of his health, careful
of his digestion and of his nerves.

Take Care of the Manure

Much attention has been given to the subject of garbage disposal in the city, but nothing has been done about manure piles and out-door closets, and
it is on these places that most flies
breed.

Flies lay their eggs in many rotting
or fermenting substances, but most of them prefer moist manure. One fly produces hundreds of eggs.

It takes ten days for the fly to fully hatch. If manure is drawn away once a week, it prevents breeding. Where manure is spread upon fields and it is harmless. In parts of China, where all manure and garbage from
towns is carried out upon the fields
every day, flies have disappeared.

Where manure cannot be removed
every week, it can be made harmless
by keeping it in a screened enclosure
or in a tight covered bin, so flies cannot get to it.

If in an open pile, no eggs will hatch
in it if it is well sprinkled once a week with a solution of 1 1/2 pounds of salt to a gallon of water, or one quart
of kerosene to a gallon of water, or if

dusted with slacked lime, or best and safest of all, if slaved over with powdered borax, one pound to eight bushels of manure, and afterwards sprinkled with water to wash the borax in.

The borax will not injure the manure as a fertilizer. It is not known whether the other things named
will or not. The cities committee, which is considering the manure question, find that commercial borax for this use can be obtained at six cents
a pound.

Any of these germicides can be used weekly in outdoor closets that are not so tight and dark that flies
cannot enter them.

Some flies live through the winter
in houses, but most of those that appear in the spring come from manure piles where undeveloped flies have survived the winter, and are brought to life by the sun's warmth. Therefore, manure should be cared for early.

If the flies that have lived through the winter in houses or elsewhere are swatted, and if manure substances and rotting things are disinfected, we can have a flyless city.

BOOMERANG DISLIKES.

MAN'S likes and dislikes are an excellent index to his character. When you say, "I dislike So-and-So," remember that you are telling your auditors something about yourself, as well as about So-and-So.

I heard a young man express himself in regard to an older man who said that he didn't like him. And he said it in no qualified terms. He expressed contempt as well as dislike. He said that the older man was as credulous and easily fooled as a child, had absurdly quixotic ideas of honor, and ought to have a guardian.

Now I happen to know the older man quite well. I consider him one of the sweetest, kindest, most unselfish men I have ever met, and I know that is the general estimate of him.

As to the younger man, well, I have been trying to decide what to think of him for some time. And now I know. His estimate of the older man was like a searchlight turned in upon himself and lighting up ugly depths of envy and meanness and selfishness, which a thin veneer of surface charm had hitherto covered.

His condemnation of the older man was like a boomerang condemnation of himself.

He thinks his senior childishness because he, himself, has so little trust in human nature that he cannot understand the other's fine faith.

He thinks his ideas of honor absurdly quixotic because his own are the exact opposite of quixotic.

He says scornfully that the older man was like a searchlight turned in upon himself and lighting up ugly depths of envy and meanness and selfishness, which a thin veneer of surface charm had hitherto covered.

We like people whom we are enabled by our likes to them to understand.

We dislike people whose mental and spiritual vibrations are so different from our own that they awaken no answer within us.

Sometimes our dislike is a tribute to our own worth. Sometimes it is a betrayal of our lack and littleness.

Envy is the cause of a good many dislikes. We often cleverly deceive ourselves into thinking we have some justifiable reason for antagonism when, after all, there is nothing but some form of envy or jealousy at the bottom of it.

The man who has failed cannot forgive the man who has succeeded. The man who has wasted his talents cannot forgive him who has used his to good advantage.

The man who has kept the faith, with that bitter kind of hatred which they tell us Satan feels for God.

Why do I dislike So-and-So? is a good question to ask oneself whenever one becomes conscious of a dislike.

The answer may prevent you from publishing that dislike broadcast to the world, or it may even produce the greater benefit of shaming us into overcoming the dislike.

knows. He does not have any feeling of responsibility to the girl and can throw her down any time he feels like it, since they are not engaged. He has the right to go around with other girls as much as he likes. He is perfectly free, while the girl feels that she is bound in an understanding that he wishes to some day marry her, and perhaps she gives up all her other boy friends for one who isn't serious at all.

Be good friends with the boys, ask your parents to let them visit you as friends, talk over your boy friends with your mother and father and when you are a year, or two older and feel sure that you love and are loved by the right one, your parents will be just as happy over it as you are.

Just tell your boy friend that you are not going to keep "steady company" with any boy until you meet the man who asks you to marry him, and that will be when you are a little older and know your own mind a little better.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am eighteen years old and have a great desire to travel. Should I leave home, as my parents will not consent to let me travel? I have a great longing for the west. Would it be a wise plan to go out there? I have no relatives out there. Do you think I could find a home among strangers? Please give me your advice.

Women Worth White

MADAME SHAH.

(By Selene Armstrong Harmon.) FROM the ancient land of Conchus to the hurly-burly of modern America, life is a far cry. Yet that is just what has happened to Madame Kai Pu Shah, wife of the new minister from China. With her husband, she has come to America, and now she is being educated according to the new standards of life in modern, republican China. She speaks English very slowly, but through her daughter, Miss Lang, her conversation is most interesting.

"China has made wonderful progress in the last few years in the education of women," she said. "We have schools and colleges now for young women. And we even have suffragists, too. My country is adding every day to educational facilities, but I find most of my time taken up with the care of my large family. While the men of the family have adopted American dress, I find my native costume more comfortable than European gowns. Some of my children were born in New York, and the boys will go to public school here."

Madame Shah and Miss Lang have retained the picturesque robes of their country, a bit modified as to the skirt, which takes on a somewhat American bias. But the waist is of Chinese silk, made in the loose fashion of their own land, and it is certainly a much more comfortable garment than the high heels, tight skirts and corsets of our American maidens.

There are eight children in the family of the Minister and Madame Shah. The oldest girl, Lang Shah, has spent many years in America, and her father being consul general at New York from 1903 to 1908, she speaks English fluently. She attended college in China and will probably do so here in America. The Things Worth Knowing. To keep aluminum bright, wash in soap and water and rub with olive oil.

Rub the kitchen faucet with lemon peel. Polish with a soft cloth and they will be beautifully bright.

To remove a rusty screw, first apply a very hot iron to the head for a short time. Then immediately use the screw driver.

If moths are in a carpet spread a damp towel over the part and iron it dry with a hot iron. The heat and steam will kill the worms and eggs.

THE TABLE. Fillets of Haddock, White Sauce—Skin a three, and one-half pound haddock, and cut in fillets. Arrange in buttered baking-pan, pour around the fish three tablespoonsful of melted butter, three-fourths cup of white wine to which has been added one-half tablespoonful of lemon juice, and two slices of onion. Cover and bake. Melt two tablespoonsful of butter, add two tablespoonsful of flour, and pour on the liquor drained from the fish; then add one-half cup of fish stock (made from head, tail and bones of the fish). Two tablespoonsful of heavy cream, yolks of two eggs, salt and pepper. Remove the fillets to a serving dish, pour over the sauce strained through cheesecloth, and sprinkle with finely chopped parsley.

Roast of Lamb—Wipe the breast of lamb, put in a kettle with bouquet of sweet herbs, a small onion stuck with six cloves, one-half tablespoonful of salt, one-half teaspoonful of pepper, and two slices of onion. Cover with boiling water, and simmer until the bones slip out easily. Take the meat from the water, remove the bones, and press under weight. When cool, trim in shape, dip in crumbs, egg and crumbs, and fry in deep fat and drain. Serve with Spanish sauce.

Clam Soup With Poached Eggs—One quart of clams, one cup of milk, one slice of onion, one-third cup of butter, one-third cup of flour, one and one-half teaspoonful of salt, one-eighth teaspoonful of pepper, few gratings of nutmeg, whites of two eggs. Clean and pick over the clams, using three-fourths cup of cold water; reserve the liquor. Put a side the soft parts of the clams; finely chop the hard part, add to the liquor, bring gradually to the boil, then strain, and thicken with butter and flour cooked together. Scald the milk with the onion, remove the onion, add the milk, seasoning, and the soft part of the clams, bring to the boiling-point and pour the whites of the eggs beaten stiff.

Harlequin Slices—Yolks of three eggs, two tablespoonsful of milk, few grains of salt, whites of three eggs, few grains of salt, chopped truffles. Beat the yolks of the eggs slightly, add the milk and the salt. Pour into small buttered cup, place in a pan of hot water and bake until firm. Beat the whites of the eggs slightly, add the salt, and cook the same as the yolks. Cool, remove from the cups, cut in slices, pack in a mould in alternate layers, and press with a weight. A few truffles may be sprinkled between slices if desired. Remove from the mould and cut in slices.

Eggs Baked in Tomato Sauce—Strain one pint of tomatoes, season with salt, pepper and a little onion juice and cook until hot and smooth.

Representative Women From All Nations to Meet in Rome in May For Reviewing Progress. (SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.) Dublin, April 20.—Representative women of all nations will meet in Rome next month for the session of the International Council of Women, which will be the largest in the world once every five years for the review of women's progress and planning of new activities. The total membership of the organization included in the International Council is about 6,500,000 women, from twenty-one countries.

This great affiliation of interests was founded by Susan B. Anthony and other American women leaders in 1888 and the women of the United States represented in it, numbering 3,000,000, lead those of all other countries.

The Countess of Aberdeen, president of the organization, is busy at the Viceroyal Lodge in Dublin concluding arrangements for the gathering, which she believes will be the largest in the history of the movement. The purpose of the international meeting is the broad inclusion of all movements, designed to better humanity—men not excepted.

Lady Aberdeen has a corner of the Viceroyal Lodge set apart as a "business room," where she and Dr. Alice Salomon of Berlin, corresponding secretary of the International Council, have been working early and late on details of the gathering. The dates set are from May 25 to 14th, inclusive, and the meeting place will be the Hotel Quirinal in Rome. The list of National Councils affiliated with the international organization, all of which are expected to be represented at Rome, includes the United States, Canada, Germany, Sweden, Great Britain, Denmark, Netherlands, Australia, Italy, France, Argentina, Switzerland, Belgium, Greece and Bulgaria. Women leaders from Russia, Turkey and China, India and Japan are also expected.

Dr. Anna Howard Shaw, president of the National American Woman Suffrage Association, will deliver a address on woman's suffrage, while Mrs. Kate Waller Bennett, president of the National Council of Women of the United States, of Alexandria, Va., will also attend.

In many ways this is to be one of the most important of the meetings of the council. The women of Italy are said to have been "waking up" the past few years, and "sentiment is ready to crystallize." This meeting is expected to help to focus the thought of the women of Italy; because the International Council of Women stands for the less radical forms of feminism, representing "the spirit of every woman who has begun to think outside of herself of her home, and stands for the alleviation of the grossest social abuses affecting women and children."

After the adjournment of the session of the Council, the Italian women's organizations have invited the delegates to remain and attend a Congress of women. The council's meeting will last one week; the Congress will be in session two weeks.

The International Council can identify itself with such movements as its members, unanimously accepted by the survival of the fittest, the best of propositions thus far considered include:

1. To further international peace and arbitration.
2. To combat the "white slave" traffic.
3. To win suffrage for women.
4. To promote legislation concerned with the general welfare of women and their legal position.
5. To promote the improvement of public health.
6. To protect emigrants and especially safeguard women and children.
7. The preamble to the statement of the aims and objects of the International Council of Women is: "We, women of all nations, sincerely believing that the best good of Lady Aberdeen has been president of the International Council for three quinquennial terms. She had expected to retire this year but at the unanimous request of the presidents of the various national councils she has allowed her name to stand for re-nomination.

OUR NATIONAL PRIDE IS NECESSARY TODAY

REV. GEORGE EDWIN PARISOE INSTRUCTS PEOPLE TO PRAY AGAINST WAR.

DEFENSE OF THE FAITH

Sermon Was a Masterful One Sunday Morning at Presbyterian Church. Faith a Personal Question.

"Our national pride is today a factor necessary for every one of us Americans to possess. If war is upon us, then pray, my good friends, that war is not inevitable and is avoidable. This was the plea made yesterday morning by the Rev. George Edwin Parisoe in his sermon on 'The Defense of the Faith' at the First Presbyterian church. The address was a most remarkable one, and there was no hesitancy on the part of the speaker to omit plain facts. The sermon was taken from the First Epistle of Peter, the third chapter, and the eighth to tenth verses.

"The sermon is on the defense of the faith and not the defense of a faith. The difference is noticeable as you will see. Christianity conveys to the world certain benefits. That was the intention when Christianity was originated. Christianity stands 'in the closest relationship with the world.' Let me picture to you before discussing the faith, the conditions which prevailed when Christ was born. Greek art and philosophy had gained a decided footing in the affairs of Greek life. Roman law and government were in the lead, and were instituting certain customs among the Romans. The Pharisees, scribes, the synagogue, the Jewish nation, Gentiles, Samaritans and proselytes had formulated certain laws, which were met with favor among the people. Every one of these classes had set a claim which they claimed was authoritative. With their social life, as it was, and the conditions being so unfavorable for the birth of a Christ, Jesus, the Saviour of the world, was born, born if you please, when criticism was high.

"The social and religious life began to change, but not to any extent. Need you be surprised that these people wished to take his life?

"It was in 64 A. D., when the great fire of Rome occurred. The people suspected the emperor of the crime. Nero turned his guilt onto another, accused the Christians and slew them by the hundreds, that he might be set free. Many of the Christians were tortured, in oil, but they remained faithful to the last, to their Christ, and laid down a future salvation to all late generations.

"As the result of the fire, we have derived a Christian fellowship, which was not self-made. Trials were experienced, and many unhappy moments gone through, before this doctrine of good Christian fellowship ever came. We have our own lives to sacrifice and consecrate. We must arise to defend our faith to Jesus, the Christ.

"Three hundred millions of people are found in China today bound by their superstitious beliefs. A like number can be discovered in India, living on some foolish doctrine of little or no worth. In Africa there are 146,000,000 existing in the belief that Islam, a god, is their idol of worship. The greatest need of all is the weakness found in our own lives and eyes. No army ever won a battle who failed to steadily advance its guard in the thick of shot. Likewise we must advance our guard to the frontier, for I have come to the conclusion that this question of faith is a personal one only. Then you will ask, 'Is there a frontier?' Turn to Mexico, my friends, and you will see. If Christianity is to live and be victorious, you and I must stand steadfast and forward to Jesus Christ. You cannot argue or persuade Christianity at first came through argumentation in part, but not entirely. Do not underestimate argumentation, because it should not be despised. It takes faith, but it will be won. 'You cannot defend your faith unless your heart is with God. Pride and vengeance are the most assiduous traitors. Do you remember when the Pope of Rome called Henry the Eighth a strong defender of the faith? My friends, in settling such a statement, I would call you as witnesses and God as the jury, to decide whether Henry the Eighth or the Tudors were good defenders of the faith. The statement of the pope was an extraordinary one, and I protest it. 'The defense of the faith depends upon us, and on our part, and God grant that this defense is with you.'

PENNY PACKAGES OF SEEDS DISTRIBUTED

Junior Civic League members will have opportunity of purchasing flower and vegetable seeds this week.

Aside from swatting the fly, the work of the newly organized Junior Civic League is the care and beautifying of the back yards of their homes. With this idea in view, the ladies of the Civic League have arranged for the sale of penny packages of garden seeds, both vegetable and flower, at the various schools of the city. These packages are sold for one cent each and contain in the vegetable line, onions, lettuce, beets, radishes, carrots and beans. In the list of flowers, nasturtiums, poppies, pansies, candy tuft, zinnia and bachelor buttons.

Today the children of the Washington and Grant schools had the opportunity of purchasing packets. Tuesday these ladies will visit the Lincoln and Webster. Wednesday the Adams and Douglas, Thursday the Garfield and Spring Brook, and Friday the Jefferson. The parochial schools will also be visited. This work of the committee having charge of the sale of the Junior Civic League, is to be highly commended. It will awaken in the children a spirit of the love for the beautiful and will also give them employment for many hours during the coming summer. The plan has been tried with success in any city and has won universal favor. The packets sold for a penny have been carefully selected and any gardens in the city will be more tasteful than usual at the coming summer, aside from furnishing a goodly amount of vegetables for the table use.

OBTAIN SMALL LOOT FROM DOUGLAS STORE

Over Dollar Taken From Cash Register and Two Dozen Knives—Boarders Depart With 35 Dollars.

By forcing the lock on a small window in the rear of the Douglas store, a party or parties, who were in the store, obtained a small loot from the cash register and nearly two dozen knives from the show case. The thief crawled over the counter, opened the cash register and took one dollar and five cents had been taken from the cash register and nearly two dozen knives from the show case. The thief crawled over the counter, opened the cash register and took one dollar and five cents had been taken from the cash register and nearly two dozen knives from the show case.

The police are confident that a boy is guilty of entering the store with the help of a companion who probably lifted him over the counter way into the window. The money left in the cash register was from sales after the bulk of the day's funds had been placed in the safe and the value of knives at four or five dollars. In leaving the building, the thief removed a number of wooden tubs leaned against the bolted rear door and escaped. The robbery shows the work of a novice for many valuable articles were not touched and nothing about the store showed that a search was made. The police declare that the same parties who entered the Warner's Billiard hall several months ago are probably guilty of the robbery Saturday night.

The police are also investigating the complaint of Mrs. Churchill on South Third street that two of her boarders stole thirty-five dollars from her Saturday night. Mrs. Churchill told the police that she had the money tucked under a table cloth and one of the men saw her put it there, went and in a joking manner took the money. When the man disappeared the joke became a reality. Both the suspects have police records.

CLOSE ENGAGEMENT AT MYERS THEATRE

With the presentation of 'Tempest and Sunshine,' the Marion Woods Stock Company, with an excellent repertoire of popular dramas and comedies, closed a week's close engagement in Janesville Sunday night. Well filled houses have greeted the performances of the company, whose entertainments proved pleasing to the Janesville theatre-goers. The production presented last evening, 'Tempest and Sunshine,' was one of the best offerings and was enjoyed by a large audience at both the afternoon and evening performance. The plot is well known to the book readers and afforded the cast opportunity to display their talents. The cast of Fanny Middleton, Sunshine, was creditably taken by Orlina Marion, who has starred in all of the productions. Donna Wilbur played the part of Julia Middleton.

SPANISH WAR CAMPS WILL TAKE ACTION

Special Meetings Called in Various Parts of the State to Offer Services if Needed.

Talk of war and need of troops to invade Mexico has caused the veterans of the recent war with Spain to call special meetings of the camps located in the various cities of the state. Milwaukee called tonight and the following call for a special meeting of the Harry L. Gifford camp of this city for Tuesday evening.

United Spanish War Veterans Attention: There will be a post regular meeting of Harry L. Gifford Camp, U. S. W. Veterans, at their hall Tuesday evening, April 21. Every member of the camp is urgently requested to be present and a special invitation is also extended to all comrades serving in the Spanish American war and the Philippine Islands. Business of importance. Meeting called at 8 o'clock.

ALFRED PEARL, Commander. C. A. BUCHHOLZ, Adjutant.

FORTY YEARS AGO

Janesville Daily Gazette, April 20, 1874.—It seldom occurs that a person who is placed under suspicion of crime, is so publicly vindicated in the public esteem as is Mr. A. P. Tolles, whom the murderers of Rachel Thomas sought to implicate in that atrocious affair. Not only did the court discredit the testimony of the prosecutors and dismiss the charges against Mr. Tolles, but his neighbors and fellow citizens of the Town of Janesville have since testified to their confidence in his worth and integrity by electing him to the office of supervisor.

The train passing Hanover Junction from the north this morning on the Northwestern road had a deck load of five or six inches of snow.

An 'April shower' of snow and rain fell here yesterday afternoon.

We learn from the Madison Democrat that Mrs. Minetta Finn of this county was pardoned Tuesday by the governor. The crime for which she was sentenced and of which she pleaded guilty was the larceny of a silk dress of the value of twenty dollars. She was sentenced by the county court to pay a fine of fifty dollars and the cost of prosecution and to stand committed in the county jail until paid.

Duprez and Benedict's ministrals appear at the Opera House on the 25th. Tomorrow is inauguration day for our city officers elected Tuesday. The school of the city have directed that pupils in the fifth district who have formerly attended at the 'old academy' shall be distributed among the various schools most convenient to their respective places of residence. This arrangement will cause considerable inconvenience, but the people of Janesville manifest a ready desire to make any sacrifice necessary for the comfort and welfare of the blind, whose school building was recently destroyed by fire.

Not Worried About That. Clergyman (visiting prison)—'I hope that when you are released you will live so that you can look your fellowman straight in the eye.' The Bunco Man—'That is the simplest part of my business.'—Puck.

A. B. WEST TELLS HOW ALFALFA LAND CAN BE PREPARED

Answers Questions Calling for Recommendation for the Inoculation of Land for Sowing.

The following questions have been asked the writer:

1. What is recommended for the inoculation of land to be sown to alfalfa?

There are two methods by which inoculation may be secured. First, by the application of inoculated soil at the rate of 300 to 500 pounds per acre, and second, by the use of commercial cultures.

Of these two methods, the writer would recommend the first, the use of soil taken from an alfalfa field or from a place where sweet clover has grown, for the reason that this method has proven more successful than the second.

The objections to the use of soil are the expense of transferring such bulky material any great distance, and the possibility of getting weed seeds. Sufficient alfalfa and sweet clover are grown in the country, however, so that it ought to be comparatively easy for a stock county farmer to supply himself with the soil without hauling it any great distance.

As to the weed seeds a vigorous growth of alfalfa, such as will be secured in properly prepared soil, will prove discouraging to most weeds, especially when their seeds are cut off from two to four times during the summer.

The commercial cultures have not as yet been sufficiently developed so that they are always successful, though they sometimes are, and are more easily applied than the inoculated soil. One runs more risk of failure in using them, though no doubt in time cultures will be made that will be successful.

Bulletin No. 137 of the Iowa Experiment Station recommends 'Farmgerm,' made by E. P. Thomas, Farmgerm Co., Bloomfield, N. J., and 'Nitragin,' made by the German-American Nitrogen Co. of Milwaukee, as especially giving good results, though not always so sure as the soil inoculation.

2. Where may time be obtained for use on acid soils?

Time may be obtained of various dealers, whose names may be found in the advertising columns. It may also be obtained at the sugar beet factory at 10 cents per pound.

All acid soils need lime and it is most important to lime such soil if one is to grow alfalfa, clover or other legumes. To ascertain if the soil needs lime use blue litmus paper, obtained of any druggist, and test by putting into the moist soil. If paper turns red soil is acid.

3. What oats should one raise?

By all means select some variety of pure bred oats. These oats are bred for production and give more bushels to the acre than common oats. The seed is more likely also to be free from smut.

The Swedish Select (or Wis. No. 4) is a good variety, also the Kherson, which will stand up on rich prairie soil.

—ALLEN B. WEST.

says, 'Eugenics is a necessary factor in the future of the race. The average American girl is unfit for motherhood.' This may be true, but if weak and ailing girls passing from girlhood to womanhood, would only rely as thousands do, upon Lydia E. ## If Coffee Don't Agree

Much of today's nervousness, indigestion, languor, kidney and liver trouble, come from indiscretions in eating and drinking, so commonplace that they are seldom considered till Nature pulls one up with a sharp jerk.

More often than is suspected, coffee is the cause of these troubles.

A simple, easy way to discover the real cause and relieve oneself of a lot of discomfort is to quit coffee for ten days and try

POSTUM

This beverage contains none of the coffee drugs (caffeine, tannin, etc.) which are responsible for many human ailments, big and little. Postum is a food-drink made from prime wheat and a bit of molasses. It is pure and contains only the wholesome goodness of the grain.

Postum comes in two forms:

Regular Postum—must be boiled. 15c and 25c packages.

Instant Postum—a soluble form. A teaspoonful stirred in a cup of hot water dissolves quickly and makes a most delightful beverage; with cream and sugar added to taste. 30c and 50c tins.

The cost per cup of both kinds is about the same.

Thousands who have changed from coffee to Postum know

The Valiants of Virginia

The pearl fan twisted in Katharine's fingers. What she had guessed was an open secret, then!

The major made an exclamation that had the effect of coming after a jaw-dropped silence. "I—I never thought of that!"

The other resumed slowly, somewhat bitterly, it seemed to the girl listening. "If her mother was in love with Sassoon—"

Katharine's heart beat fast and then stood still. Sassoon! That was the name of the man Valiant's father had killed in that old duel of which Judge Chalmers had told. "If her mother—"

Shirley Dandridge's mother, "was in love with Sassoon!" Why—

"Was she?"

The major's query held a sharpness that seemed almost appeal. She was conscious that the other had faced about abruptly.

"I've always believed so, certainly. If she had loved Valiant, would she have thrown him over merely because he broke his promise not to be a party to a quarrel?"

"You think not?" said the major husily.

"Not under the circumstances. Valiant was forced into it. No gentleman, at that day, could have declined the meeting. He could have explained it to Judith's satisfaction—a woman doesn't need much evidence to justify the man she's in love with. He must have written her—he couldn't have gone away without that—and if she had loved him, she would have called him back."

The major made no answer. Katharine saw a cigar fall unheeded upon the grass, where it lay, glowing like a panther's eye.

The other had risen now, his stooped figure bulking in the moonlight. His voice sounded harsh and strained: "I loved Beauty Valiant," he said, "and his son is his son to me—but I have to think of Judith, too. She faints, Bristow, when she saw him—Shirley told me about it. Her mother has made her think it was the scent of the roses! He's his father's living image, and he's brought the past back with him. Every sound of his voice, every sight of his face, will be a separate stab! Oh, his mere presence will be enough for Judith to bear. But with her heart in the grave with Sassoon, what would love between Shirley and young Valiant mean to her? Think of it!"

He broke off, and there was a blank of silence, in which he turned with almost a sigh. Then Katharine saw him reach the bench with a single stride and drop his hand on the bowed shoulder.

"Bristow!" he said brusquely. "You're ill! This confounded phlegmizing at your time of life—"

The major's face looked ashy pale, but he got up with a laugh. "Not I," he said; "I was never better in my life! We've had our mouthful of air. Come on back to the house."

"Not much!" grunted the other. "I'm going where we both ought to have been hours ago." He threw away his cigar and stalked down the path into the darkness.

The major stood looking after him till he had disappeared, then suddenly dropped on the bench and covered his face. Something like a groan burst from him.

"My God!" he said, and his voice came to Katharine with a quaver of age, and suffering—very different from the jovial accents of the ballroom—"if I were only sure it was Sassoon!"

Presently he rose, and went slowly toward the lighted doorway.

CHAPTER XXVII.

The Ambush.
Not long after, from the musicians bower the sound of "Home, Sweet Home," drifted over the poignant rose-scent, and presently the driveway resounded to rolling wheels, and the voices of negro drivers, and the house-entrance jostled with groups of muffled in loose carriage-wraps, silken cloaks and light overcoats, calling tired but laughing farewells.

Katharine, on the steps, found herself looking into Valiant's eyes. "How can I tell you how much I have enjoyed it all?" she said. "I've stayed till the very last minute—which is something for one's fourth season! And now, goodbye, for we are off tomorrow for Hot Springs."

Her father had long ago betaken himself homeward, and the big three-seated surrey—holding "six com' table and nine family"—in the phrase of Lige the coachman—had returned for the rest: Judge Chalmers, the two younger girls and Shirley. Katharine greeted the latter with a charming smile. What more natural than that she should find herself straightway on the rear seat with royalty? The two girls satly disposed in the middle; the judge climbed up beside the driver, who cracked his whip and they were off.

The way was not long, and Katharine had need of dispatch if that refulgent weapon were to be used which fate had put into her hands. She wasted little time.

"It seems so strange," she said, "to find our host in such surroundings! I can scarcely believe him the same John Valiant I've danced with a hundred times in New York. He's been here such a short while, and yet he couldn't possibly be more at home if he'd lived in Virginia always. And you all treat him as if he were quite one of yourselves."

Shirley smiled enchantingly. "Why, yes," she said, "maybe it seems odd to outsiders. But, you see, with us a Valiant is always a Valiant. No matter where he has lived, he's the son of his father and the master of Damory court."

"That's the wonderful part of it. It's so—so English, somehow."

"Is it?" said Shirley. "I never thought of it. But perhaps it seems so. We have the old houses and the old names and think of them, no doubt, in the same way."

"What a sad life his father had!" pursued Katharine dreamily. "You know all about the duel, of course?"

Shirley shrank imperceptibly now. The subject touched Valiant so closely it seemed almost as if it belonged to him and to her alone—not a thing to be flippantly touched on. "Yes," she said somewhat slowly, "every one here knows of it."

"No doubt it has been almost forgotten," the other continued, "but John's coming must naturally have revamped the old story. What was it about—the quarrel? A love-affair?"

"It's so long ago," murmured Shirley. "I suppose some one could tell if they would."

"Major Bristow, perhaps," conjectured Katharine thoughtfully.

"He was one of the seconds," admitted Shirley unhappily. "But by common consent that side of it wasn't talked of at the time. Men in Virginia have old-fashioned ideas about women."

"Ah, it's fine of them!" purred Katharine. "I can imagine the men who knew about that dreadful affair, in their southern chivalry, drawing a cordon of silence about the name of that girl with her broken heart. For if she loved one of the two, it must have been Sassoon—not Valiant, else he would have stayed. How terrible to see one's lover killed in such a way!"

It was quickly ended for him, but the poor woman was left to bear it all the years. I fancy she would never wholly get over it, never be able to forget him, though she tried."

Shirley made some reply that was lost in the whirling wheels. The other's words seemed almost an echo of what she herself had been thinking.

"Maybe she married, after a while, too. A woman must make a life for herself, you know. If she lives here, it will be sad for her, this opening of the old wound by John's coming."

And looking so like his father—

Katharine paused. There was a kind of exhilaration in this subtle baiting. Shirley stirred uneasily, and in the glimpsing light her face looked troubled. Katharine's voice had touched paths, and in spite of her distaste of the subject, Shirley had been entering into the feeling of that supposititious woman.

The judge, on the front seat, was telling a low-toned story over his shoulder for the delectation of Nancy and Betty, but Shirley was not listening. Her whole mind was full of what Katharine had been saying. She was picturing to herself this woman, her secret hidden all these years, hearing of John Valiant's coming to Damory court, learning of this likeness, shrinking from sight of it, dreading the painful memory it must thrust upon her. "Suppose"—Katharine's voice was dreamy—"that she and John met suddenly, without warning. What would she do? Would she say anything? Perhaps she would faint."

Shirley started violently. Her hands as they drew her cloak uncertainly about her, began to tremble, as if with cold. Something fell from them to the bottom of the surrey.

Through her chiffon veil Katharine noted this with a slow smile. It had been easier than she had thought. She said no more, and the carriage rolled on, to the accompaniment of sobs over the judge's peroration. As it neared the Rosewood lane she leaned toward Shirley.

"You have dropped your fan," said she—and your gloves, too. I might have reached them for you. Why, we are there already. How short the drive has seemed!"

"Don't drive up the lane," Lige said Shirley, and her voice seemed sharp and strange even to herself. "The wheels would wake mother."

Katharine bade her goodbye with grateful sweetness, as the judge bundled her down in his strong friendly arms. "No," she told him, "don't come with me. It's not a bit necessary. Emmaline will be waiting for me."

He climbed into her vacant place as the girls called their good nights. "We'll all sleep late enough in the morning, I reckon," he said with a laugh; "but it's been a great success!"

Emmaline was crunched in a chair in the hall, a rug thrown over her knees, in open-mouthed slumber. She started up at the touch of Shirley's hand, yawning widely.

"I declare to goodness," she muttered, "I was 'jestin' 't got to sleep!"

"I'm so tired, Emmaline. Take the crown. It's heavy."

The negro woman untangled the glittering points from the meshing hair with careful fingers. "Po! 't chicky-dee-dee!" she said lovingly.

The Year Was That of the Duel: the Date Was the Day Following the Janssamine Anniversary.

"Reck'n she stop all th' fiddahs outer her wings. Gimme that o' tin crown—I like ter lam' it out th' wonder! Come on, now, we up upstairs soft so's not ter sturb Miss Judith."

In the silvery-blue bedroom, the deftly-unfastened hooks of the heavy satin gown and coaxed her mistress to lie on the sofa while she unpinned the masses of waving hair till they lay in a rich surge over the cushion. Then she brought a brush and crouching down beside her, began with long gentle strokes to smooth out the silken threads; talking to her the while in a soft-crooning monotone.

Under these ministrations Shirley lay languid and speechless, her eyes closed. The fear that had stricken her heart by turns seemed a cold hand pressing upon its beating and an angry vapor rising stealthily over it. But her hands were hot, and her eyelids burned. Finally she roused herself.

"Thank you, Emmaline," she said in a tired voice, "good night now; I'm going to sleep, and you must go to bed, too."

But alone in the warm wan-dark Shirley lay staring open-eyed at the ceiling. Slowly the terror was seizing upon her, the dread, noiseless and intangible, folding her in the shadow of its numbing wings. Was her mother, the one over whom that old duel had been fought? She remembered the cape tassels. Was the date of that duel—the death of Sassoon—the anniversary her mother kept?

RESULTS COUNT

"Say, Mary, I have been converted," said a young girl, to her chum the other day.

As Mary was never over five blocks from the speaker and there had been no attending of revivals or the like in the neighborhood, she was frankly curious.

"What are you trying to tell me, speak plainly; unburden yourself; I cannot understand," she said to her smiling friend.

"Oh! of course it's about my Easter finery," was the laughing rejoinder. "I called up six dress-makers to ask if I might bring over the goods for my gown. From all came the polite answer that they were sorry, but they could not take it if I wanted it in the near future."

"Now when I purchase a gown in the piece, I just want it as soon as I possibly can have it. I sleep with visions of that unfinished gown winding its folds about me. It gets creepy! I was in despair."

"Try the want ad columns for a dress maker," said Mother, who had been a patient listener to my ravings about dress-makers who would not stop all other sewing and do for me the moment I asked them to."

"I did as she suggested and while I did it grumblingly and without faith, I was agreeably surprised. I found a woman who finished my dress on time, and in every way it is highly satisfactory."

This is just a little extract from real life to try to drive home to your mind this fact. The want ads are your willing, efficient servants. Will you use them?
